Livingston - It hasn't been a lot of fun for Coach Roy Heintz in his first season at UAH. His Lady Chargers have had a rough time to say the least and it mercifully came to an end with a 87-65 loss to West Alabama on Saturday. With the loss, the Lady Chargers ended the season at 4-20 and 1-9 in the Gulf South Conference.

Guard Marissa Carter matched her season high with 22 points for UAH. Monica Boatwright added 10 points, while senior Amber Whitt contributed nine points and 10 rebounds.

Latashia Greer had 26 points and 10 rebounds to lead West Alabama. Jenni Thomley dropped in 14 points, while Keiara Middleton tallied 12 points and Nicole Dames had 11.

For the game, West Alabama shot a torrid 54.7% (35-for-64) from the field, while UAH hit only 34.6% (18-of-52). As has been the story in many of the losses this season, the Lady Chargers were also plagued by turnovers, committing 21.

The Lady Chargers were in the fight for much of the first half and led 27-26 with 6:26 left. However, West Alabama went on a 17-3 run down the stretch and raced into the lockerroom with a 43-30 halftime lead. That blitz seemed to be the knockout punch as the Lady Chargers never recovered. UWA stretched their lead out in the second half, leading by as much as 23 points.
