SKILLMAN, N.J. - UAH sophomore Daniel Canellas was selected as the 2010 Wilson/ITA National Promoter of the Year Award winners, the ITA announced today.

The Wilson/ITA National Promoter of the Year Award recognizes individuals who promote the game of tennis at the collegiate level by devoting consistent time and effort to promotional activities and who support and bring awareness to either their school program or to the sport as a whole. Both student-athletes have been selected to receive a paid summer internship at Wilson's global headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

Canellas, a native of Brazil, is respected by his Charger teammates and opponents alike. Although only in his second year, he is a leader on the team, both on and off the court. He has high integrity, a vibrant personality, and works hard in the classroom. He is a marketing major in the school's College of Business, where he currently carries a 3.44 grade point average.

"Wilson is delighted to have these outstanding award winners joining our Wilson family this summer. We are confident they will be significant assets to our brand as we continue this successful partnership with the ITA and college tennis," said Michael Wallace, Wilson's Director of U.S. Promotions.

As the governing body of collegiate tennis, the ITA promotes both the athletic and academic achievements of the collegiate tennis community. The ITA, which is comprised of nearly 1,700 men's and women's varsity coaches representing over 1,200 institutions, administers numerous regional and national championships and the Campbell/ITA College Tennis Rankings for over 15,000 college varsity student-athletes at the NCAA Divisions I, II and III, NAIA and Junior College levels. The ITA also has a comprehensive awards program for players and coaches to honor excellence in academics, leadership and sportsmanship. The official ITA Web site is www.itatennis.com.
